

Lorna McNerney | ICT Project Manager, Integrated Information Service, eHealth

Proud mother to an awesome musician, a keen baker/chef and project manager living in Co. Offaly. I love weightlifting, hiking and going to concerts!

What I do in my job?

I work as a project manager in IIS, working with multidisciplinary teams to delivery dashboards, extracts and providing insights in a meaningful way for operational decision-making and strategic planning. I continue to work with the Scheduled care team on the further development of the scheduled care dashboard. I also work with HSE departments and external stakeholders on the delivery and publication of key metrics for patients and the Department of Health.

Motivation:

The work I'm doing within IIS is helping hospital groups and hospital staff in their endeavours to reduce waiting times for patients and facilitating getting patients the right care at the right time is great motivation. I work with excellent teams, both in IIS and with our stakeholders, as well as several strong, intelligent and inspiring women.

Advice to women thinking of a career in health service:

Go for it! There is something for every woman hoping to get involved in patient care and service. The work will always challenge and reward you. There are so many opportunities to build relationships, become a leader, learn and work with great people.
