

What I do in my job?

My job involves the identification of potential data sources for the National Shared Care Record and the Health App, and evaluating these to assess their potential for inclusion in both of these projects.

Motivation:

The National Shared Care Record will be transformational for the Health Service in terms of giving clinicians a more complete picture of the patient's health, and to empower patients by giving them access to their medical information. I'm proud to be part of the development of a project that will impact the lives of so many.

Advice to women thinking of a career in health service:

The health service, and particularly ehealth, has provided me with so many career options, as well as opportunities and support for personal growth and educational development. It also provides great flexibility to support a good work life balance.

Originally from Sligo, I now live in Manorhamilton in lovely Leitrim with my husband Eamonn (who also works in eHealth) and our 2 wonderful boys Donnchadh & Dashiell
